FASHION SAYS—"FEAR NOT!"

NEW YORK, April 14.—Daytime dresses, this season, seem to have reached the height of perfection. There are the simplest of the simple, in designs for morning or street wear, and the daintiest, most airy possible of creations for afternoon the vivid Indian colorings; this girdle was weighted with two heavy tassels, and was caught loosely about the normal waist line, knotted and allowed to fall nearly to the skirt hem on left side. The girdle composed the only bit of contrast on the dress and the effect was charming.

A white bead girdle on an afternoon or a dance frock of net is most effective too; the Chian beads may be used, or the glittering crystal beads. These woven girdles give us an excellent opportunity to put into use the knowledge of bead weaving which the majority of us gained when bead embroidery was so popular a form of fancy work some years ago. One may use her own ideas as to color combinations, this being another chance for developing personality in dress. The ease of color is undoubtedly the greatest factor in obtaining the desired note of the season, therefore, one should not hesitate to use color in effective combinations of ribbon, braids and embroidery work of all kinds; the touch of handwork is introduced on frock, blouse and suit, anywhere and everywhere possible.

The daytime dress of serge, natural linen or taffeta, is rendered doubly becoming by a bit of vivid wool or bead embroidery, and the evening frock, no matter how simple, is a thing of glitter and sparkle. One should not be afraid of oddity, as long as it is harmonious.

group. She buys for all, carries for all, pays for all. By thus doing away with competition between themselves, the allies are in a position to dictate prices rather than have prices dictated to them.

The Argentine producers find that while the European demand is always for more, the supply is arranged from England by limiting the number of steamers available for the River Plate trade. All grain must be forwarded by freighters the mail boats being requisitioned for the transport of chilled meat. The scarcity of the freight vessels has accordingly given rise to serious congestion of shipments.

In the federal court at Phoenix, S. Sanchez and a Mexican named Santa Cruz, from this county, accused of selling whiskey to Indians, were convicted and given sentences in the federal penitentiary, as was also Bill Simpson, accused of smuggling. And Florez, bound over here on a charge of smuggling a team of horses from Mexico, is yet to be tried.

Circus day yesterday, nearly all the school children went to see it, and there was no school in the afternoon.

DROP IN GRAIN HITS
ARGENTINE COUNTRY

(Associated Press)

BUENOS AIRES, April 14.—With the carnival season now making its annual entry, there are no outward signs of anything but prosperity in the capital of the Argentine. So far as society is concerned, it is exulting over the favorable prospects for the opera season which, the newspapers say, will make Buenos Aires the center of the operatic world this year.

The general feeling in business circles regarding economic conditions, however, is rather pessimistic.

The fact is, the price of grain, which gauges the prosperity of the provinces, has fallen precisely when a substantial increase in price was anticipated. The markets of Great Britain and her allies are practically the only ones open to Argentine produce, and, having organized a colossal "corner" Great Britain has become the grainery and storehouse of the

THE VILLAGE BLACKSMITH

Under the spreading chestnut tree
The village smithy stands;
The smith, a mighty man is he,
With large and sinewy hands;
And the muscles of his brawny arms
Are strong as iron bands.

His hair is crisp and black and long,
His face is like the tan;
His brow is wet with honest sweat,
He earns whate'er he can;
And looks the whole world in the face
For he owes not any man.

Week in, week out, from morn till night,
You can hear his bellows blow;
You can hear him swing his heavy sledge,
With measured beat and slow,
Like a sexton ringing the village bell,
When the evening sun is low.

And children coming home from school
Look in at the open door;
They love to see the flaming forge,
And hear the bellows roar,
And catch the burning sparks that fly
Like chaff from a threshing floor.

He goes on Sunday to the church,
And sits among his boys;
He hears the parson pray and preach
He hears his daughter's voice
Singing in the village choir;
And it makes his heart rejoice.

It sounds to him like her mother's voice,
Singing in Paradise!
He needs must hink of her once more,
How in the grave she lies;
And with his hard rough hand he wipes
A tear out of his eyes.

Rolling—rejoicing—sorrowing,
Onward through life he goes;
Each morn'g sees some task begun,
Each evening sees its close;
Something attempted, something done,
Has earned a night's repose.

Thanks, thanks to thee, my worthy friend,
For the lesson thou hast taught!
Thus at the flaming forge of life
Our fortunes must be wrought;
Thus on its sounding anvil shaped
Each burning deed and thought!
—Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.
